

Classes Choose Court for Nov. 5; Royal Candidates Select Escorts

One of the top questions on everyone's mind for the next two weeks will be this one: "Who will be crowned Homecoming Queen November 5?"

Five George Fox college co-eds are currently vieing for the regal position. Four candidates were elected by their classes and one was elected at large by the student body.

Named as the candidate from the freshman class is Joan Peck from Melba. The sophomores elected Ethelwyne DeLapp from them as their representative of the royal ranks. Karen Hampton, a junior from Salem will represent her class in the court. Senior Joan DeZell from Medford completes the class selections. Elected by the students as a special ASB meeting was freshman, Priscilla Bishop from Salem.

Escorts named by the princesses include Phil Kooistra from Spokane who will accompany princess Joan Peck. Escorting princess Ethelwyne DeLapp will be Bob Willcuts from Greenleaf. Princess Six members of the George Fox College club and their adviser, Kenneth Williams, travelled to a regional convention of the Future Teachers of Oregon at Linfield College last Saturday.

Rolly Hartley, regional director, Donna Switzer, Janette Hadley, Dolores Hinkle, Christine Childs and Phyllis George were included in the group. Students from Pacific University, Oregon College of Education and Linfield also attended.

In the morning they participated in various "buzz" sessions to discuss topics related to FTA and education field. Christine Childs led one of the discussion groups.

Mrs. Antonia Crater, OEA president and a teacher in Newberg public schools was the featured afternoon speaker. She spoke of the various qualifications of a good teacher and stressed the need for high ethical standards in modern teaching. An educational film, "Like Makes His Mark" was shown to the Future Teachers.

The attendance plaque presented to the school having the greatest percentage of education majors at the convention was awarded to Linfield college.

Since the Presidential illness there has been a renewed interest in the various Democratic contenders for their party's choice as a candidate for that office. Adlai Stevenson's main rivals for that place now seem to be Governor Harriman and Senator Kefauver. In a few days Stevenson is scheduled to deliver the first of several speeches designed to define his position as a contender for his nomination. He, at the moment, is the man most likely to win his party's favor. Many Democrats feel that with Eisenhower not a candidate their chances of winning are greatly enhanced if not assured.

Richard Nixon, the vice-president, is the leading contender for his party's nod at the present time, however, whether he will be politically the most "available" by November, remains to be seen. There is just a possible chance that a phenomena will develop in both parties alike, namely factions and politicians opposed to the outstanding contenders. Each party will put on a "stop-Nixon" or a "stop-Stevenson" campaign until the conventions will be deadlocked and some other contenders will actually become the candidate of the respective parties.

A steady flow of key men in Eisenhower's cabinet and administrative staff have been seeing the President who is still detained in a Colorado hospital. Exceptions are that the President will be moved to his farm home in Pennsylvania some time next month. The hope is that every precaution possible shall be made to insure that no backsliding occurs.

At the time of writing no decision has been made in the UN Assembly attempts to elect a successor to Turkey on the UN Security Council. The U.S. has been trying to block the election of a Communist satellite country.

Headline stuff of course is the controversy over the Princess Margaret and Peter Townsend romance. Margaret is second in line for the British throne. The question is will she choose him instead of her chance for the throne? It is just possible she will do so as her uncle did and leave a divorced woman rather than the throne.

cess Karen Hampton named Neil Pierson from Wenatchee as her escort. Dick Logan from Portland was the choice of princess Joan DeZell. Princess Janice Bishop selected Paul Morse from Greenleaf to escort her.

Homecoming Plans Move Forward

A program of events and committees has been selected and approved for Homecoming day, November 5. Co-chairmen of the event are juniors Karen Hampton and Charles Tuning with Dean Williams advising.

A vocal recital by Miss Priscilla Doble, a George Fox alumna, is scheduled as a Homecoming event on Friday, November 4. The recital is sponsored by Opus II.

ANNUAL CLASS PLAY RIVALRY SET FOR NOVEMBER 5 NOCTURNAL FETE

The curtains will rise on the third annual one-act play contest sponsored by the GFC Actorators this 1955 Homecoming. The event is scheduled for 8:00 p. m. in Wood-Mar hall.

Chosen by Kara Newell Cole, director, as the sophomore-senior one-act play is "The Blue Teapot," a comedy-drama concerning the difficulties faced by a young couple about to be married.

Joan DeZell, senior, will be seen as Cynthia, a young city girl about to be married to Jim, played by Dick Mott, sophomore, who is a young farm lad. Neither Cynthia or Jim have had homes of their own as young people and they both have definite, but different, ideas as to what they want in their new home.

Playing the old homey couple who have raised Jim are Carolann Moor as Ma and Robert Byrd as Pa. Carolann is a sophomore and Robert is a senior. Through the folksy philosophy of Ma and Pa all the problems are solved.

"A Wedding" is the play selected for the freshman-junior one-act play. Directing this play will be Wayne Cole, junior.

Premarriage problems is also the theme of "A Wedding." The play takes place in the bedroom of the prospective groom, played by freshman Paul Morse, who has misplaced his collar button. Among those who endeavor to help him solve his problem are Archie and Ted played by Wayne Taknen and Gordon Martin respectively. Sally Christensen, freshman, will be seen as the vivacious bride and Earl Tycksen, junior, is the bride's father. Rounding out the cast are Karen Hampton, junior, as the bride's aunt and Anne Longstroth, freshman, as the groom's tearful mother.

The winning class play will have their name inscribed upon the Actorators' cup in the school's trophy case. A cup will be presented to the persons chosen as the best actor and actress of the evening by a secret judging committee chosen by Miss Dilla Tucker, head of the drama department.

Chapel Schedule

October 24—Mr. Weatherley of Youth for Christ.
October 25—Dr. Capper Johnson, representative from the UN.
October 28—Hubert Mardock, evangelist.
October 31—Open.

Opus II Slates Doble Concert; Recital Preludes Homecoming

Appearing for the second consecutive year under the sponsorship of Opus II, Priscilla Doble, soprano, will be presented in concert November 4 at 8:30 p. m. in the chapel of Wood-Mar hall.

Miss Doble, class of '52, was very active in the music and drama departments while attending George Fox college. She was presented in several student recitals and sang the title role in "Esther" her sophomore year. For three years she was the soprano soloist with the Newberg community chorus presentation of "The Messiah."

Since graduation Miss Doble has studied with Miss Evelene Calbreath of Portland. This last summer she appeared in the Holiday Bowl production of "Song of Norway," and is now a member of the Portland Symphonic choir.

The concert is being presented by Opus II as a benefit to the music department of the college. Some of the proceeds will go to enlarging the record library and the rest will be used throughout the year in bringing fine recitals by faculty, students and other performers to the campus.

Accompanying Miss Doble will be Ardeth Beals Hopper. The evening's program is as follows:

Faculty Seminars Continue Sessions

A series of three workshops on "The Counseling Set-up of George Fox college" will occupy the first three meetings of the faculty seminars, which were introduced to this campus last year.

Meeting each month, the faculty and staff will consider and study the various fields of study included in our college curriculum. These seminars are for the knowledge and education of the faculty in fields other than their own.

Mrs. Marie Tieleman will be conducting the series of study on the counseling program. The general purpose of this study will be an evaluation of the system employed by GFC, and Mrs. Tieleman hopes the final result will be the publication of a Counseling Hand-

College Office Sports New Switchboard; Some GF Telephone Numbers Changed

After a two weeks period of experimenting, a telephone switchboard has been installed at George Fox college which has two outside lines and ten extensions.

All college buildings are connected with the switchboard except the telephones in the dormitories which have recently been changed to toll phones.

During the day the switchboard is operated by the student office personnel which includes Connie Jarvil, Helen Stands, Betty Curr-yer, Fay Hanson, Doris Hibbs, Eleanor Howell, Lenore Davis, Janet Smith and Wayne Taknen.

After closing hours in the office the telephones rings in both the dining hall and the main office.

Advice to All Students

Don't worry if your job is small,
Or if rewards are few;
Remember that the mighty oak
Was once a nut like you.

Regulation or Freedom?

Down through the ages one commodity has ranged equal with precious jewels, gold and silver in the eyes of mankind . . . freedom. Wars have been fought and great personal sacrifice has been made that men might live in freedom.

Too many times the cry of freedom, however, is really just an attempt on the part of a minority to gain power so that they might enforce their will upon the people.

One is reminded of our Puritan forefathers who left Europe to escape persecution and gain religious and political freedom . . . a freedom to force everyone to follow THEIR philosophy.

There are many reasons for a small liberal arts Christian college. One of them is the right to teach subject matter from a Christian viewpoint and to offer instruction in their own particular denomination. However, they do not have the right to insert Quaker doctrine (or any other faith) into the subject matter unless it is definitely stated as such. God forbid that George Fox college should ever lose sight of its Christian liberal arts aims to become just another propaganda instrument in the hands of the Friends church. We, on this campus, have great freedom. No one should ever be afraid to ask WHY? or HOW?

Freedom should not grow into licentiousness! No man has the right to infringe on another man's freedom to gain his own personal ends.

Because of the nature of man there has always had to be law . . . be it federal, state, city or even school rules. These laws are usually written to give the largest amount of freedom and happiness to the greatest number of people.

Freedom can not be lived by people who are not intelligent and trustworthy. It is a thing that when treated badly must be restricted.

There is a movement on our

By Bob Byrd

campus to enforce regulations that have been dormant for too long. These rules are in our handbook and have been part of our tradition for years. When we registered this past September, we signed a pledge stating that we would faithfully follow the regulations of GFC or be subject to discipline. What right have we to fight what we have already agreed to in writing?

Some new rules are now being considered . . . dorm hours for the boys, for instance. Why should girls have to be in at an early hour when the boys can stay out as late as they please? The boys are not studying enough! There is too much rowdiness among the fellows. The school is responsible for our welfare away from home.

On the other hand . . . I've been setting my own bed time for several years now. I'll leave the dorm if they try to tuck me in at 10:15. I'm old enough to defend our country and I'm old enough to take care of myself. I came to school to assume responsibility and to learn to take care of myself.

This writer doesn't like the idea of dorm hours any better than the rest of you. Maybe they won't be necessary. Maybe we can ALL settle down to a little peace and quiet and start studying more. Maybe the administration wouldn't be so concerned at our roaming the streets late at night via the automobile if we didn't disturb the peace. A few stock mufflers here and there would let a lot of people on and off campus get more sleep at night and even enjoy a few quiet moments during the day, for that matter.

Co-operation is the keyword if we are to maintain our present freedoms. Not only must there be co-operation between the administration and students, but we as students must be able to work together. A student should never have to leave the dorm because study and the dorm's atmosphere are not compatible.

We have a great heritage of freedom on our campus. It can only be maintained by the constant awareness of the rights of other as well as our own.

By Margaret Shattuck (Lemmons)
Many and varied are the traditions that hold sway over George Fox college life, but none have deeper roots or more interesting histories than that of the famed little bear, Bruin Junior!

Since shortly after the founding of the school, Bruin has been the object of inter-class rivalry resulting in memorable fights, narrow escapes, and clever handlings.

Live Bear "Started It All"

The history of Bruin Junior started many years ago when the college canyon housed a real live black bear. Captured as a cub, he lived in the canyon for several years before he died. After his death, Bruin's skin was adopted by the college and soon became the object of class fights.

To have possession of Bruin's skin was the highest attainment a class could enjoy. After a few years of such treatment Bruin's skin became torn and finally disappeared. This however did not end the newly established rivalry. A toy teddy bear was substituted and was promptly christened Bruin Junior. Since this time eight Bruin Juniors have been made and torn up or worn out.

Bruin Has Traveled

Bruin Junior has had many experiences in his lifetime, from being picked up by the police to riding onto the campus in a baby buggy. The little bear is also quite a traveler, and has had his picture taken resting on an "Entering Idaho" sign, looking out over Puget Sound, and enjoying the sea breezes on the Oregon Coast.

Editor's Note

Don't let the age old tradition die. Let's have some action.

Sermonette

By Christine Childs

"He giveth power to the faint; and to them that have no might He increaseth strength. Even the youths shall faint and be weary, and the young men shall utterly fall but they that wait upon the Lord shall renew their strength; they shall mount up with wings as eagles; they shall run, and not be weary; they shall walk and not faint." Isaiah 40:29-31

These oft-quoted verses of scripture have become very precious to me these past few weeks as the pace of campus life quickens we find ourselves enmeshed in a tangle of activities ever gathering momentum as the year rolls on. Most of us are very aware of a feeling of inadequacy and ineffectiveness when we ponder the demands made upon us. But we struggle on, with ever-feeble efforts, to try to find the end of the maze. After repeated failures to meet the demands in an adequate way, we find ourselves in just such a position as is described in verse 30.

But the story doesn't end there. God adds another verse, one of hope and packed with promise. And it all depends on us. Are we trying to carry the weight of our responsibilities and duties alone? Then we shall "utterly fall." Only as we wait upon the Lord can we know the secret of strength and power to overcome even the most formidable obstacles, and especially the mountain of demands which seem so overwhelming before we wait upon the Lord. He gives the necessary strength, if we but rest on Him.

President Ross Quoted

In recent publications of two Christian college bulletins, President Milo Ross has been quoted.

Quotations from his Journal article "What Is a Christian College?" have appeared in the bulletins of both Pasadena college and Pacific Lutheran college, Parkland, Washington.

Students to Attend Conference

The speech classes, under the instruction of Miss Dilla Tucker, plan to send delegates to a conference at Linfield college sponsored by Willamette Valley Forensic Institute October 29.

Extemporaneous, impromptu, and interpretative reading are the classes to be entered by George Fox students. Three students will be selected to participate in each division.

Actors Plan Party

New members will be welcomed into the Actors club Tuesday evening, October 25, at a party held at the home of Wayne and Kara Cole.

New members to enter the club are: Dick Mott, Ralph Cammack, Charles Tuning, Jim Houston, Sarah Jane Smith, Quentin Nordyke, Mel Lamm, Phil Harmon, and Steve Ross.

Mackey Hill Takes Oral Exam

Mackey Hill, history professor, took an oral examination Thursday, October 20, at the University of Oregon to qualify for further doctoral work.

Freshmen Initiation

Today marks the end of freshmen initiation for another year. Freshmen have been wearing green beanies, carrying books, shining shoes, and doing other odd jobs for the past two weeks.

New Books Purchased

Mrs. Mary Dade, librarian, states that several books listed in the Readers' Choice of Current Books, have been purchased for use in the college library.

Fiction books recently purchased include Bonjour Tristesse, and Sixth of June; How to Live 365 Days a Year, A Man Called Peter, and The Power of Positive Thinking have been purchased from the non-fiction group.

Wedding Unites Ross-Wheeler

The fireplace room of the Friends church, decorated with early fall flowers, provided the setting for a quiet Quaker wedding when Mrs. Alice Wheeler became the bride of Milo Ross, president of George Fox college, Monday evening, October 10.

Dr. Arthur Roberts, professor at GFC, read the special double ring service assisted by Rev. Charles Beals, pastor of the church. Thirty-five relatives and immediate members of the two families were present.

The bride wore a street-length dress of ice blue tissue taffeta accented with winter white and black accessories. Orchids formed her corsage.

Mrs. Arthur Roberts, the only attendant, selected an autumn-red faille dress white and black accessories and an orchid corsage. Kenneth Williams, dean at GFC, stood as best man.

A reception in the church social room immediately followed the ceremony. Dahlias in fall shades, centered the serving table where Mrs. Glenn Moor, niece of the bride, presided at the silver coffee service. Mrs. T. W. Eichenberger, the bride's daughter, assisted about the rooms and Mrs. Charles Beals was in charge of arrangements.

After the wedding trip to the beach the newly-weds returned here for a day before leaving at the end of the week for Richmond, Ind., where Mr. Ross has speaking engagements at the five-year meeting of Friends. On the return trip, they plan to visit Mrs. Ross' mother in Colorado. They will be home after Nov. 1, at 110 1/2 S. College street, Newberg.

Mrs. Ross, a registered nurse at Willamette hospital, also serves as school nurse for the college.

George Fox Students Participate Church Programs and Activities

George Fox students are now actively engaged in the school's rotation program. Several clubs have given programs at various churches as on Sunday, October 16 when the Co-ed quartet sang at Hillsboro Friends church.

Also on October 16 the Quakers sang at the Sherwood Friends church, while Paul Morse Gordon Martin appeared at Vancouver, Washington.

Other college students have accepted permanent duties at churches in surrounding areas. Among them are Alfreda Pinther and Ralph Cammack who are helping with the Sunday school and morning ship service at Maplewood.

Red Newkirk, Darlene Lane, Grimm, Sheryl Gurn and Ami Martin are all assisting in day school work at Springfield.

In charge of the Rosedale junior church are Phyllis Archibald and Sandra Smith, while the same responsibility at Sherwood is held

Paul Shen Speaks at Social Night

Dr. Paul Shen, a Chinese student from Western Evangelical Ministry spoke at the Foreign Missions Fellowship's social last night at 7:30 p. m. in the dining hall. In his talk Mr. Shen stressed personal relationship to God in view of Philippians 3:7.

Sub Grimm and Dave Wing had charge of the games following Mr. Shen's talk. Hamburgers were served to the group of 20 attending.

Another FMF activity is the missionary convention to be held at George Fox college campus November 19. Complete convention coverage will appear in the next issue of the Crescent.

Elizabeth Sutton Dies

Miss Elizabeth Mead Sutton, 75, died away at her home Tuesday afternoon, October 11, after a sudden illness.

Funeral services were held from the Newberg Friends church on Thursday, October 13. Charles Wells and John Fankhauser officiated at the service.

Born the daughter of Townsen Olive Sutton on August 6, 1890, at Tecumseh, Mich., Miss Sutton has been a resident of the Newberg area since 1919. She was a member of the Friends church.

Survivors include two sisters, Mrs. Mary C. Sutton and Mrs. Sarah P. McCracken, eight nephews and four nieces.

Two Affiliations Benefit Students

As announced by the administration, two students are now registered and taking advantage of George Fox college's affiliation with the Oregon College of Education and the Portland Museum Art School.

Joanne Joanis Hartley is presently enrolled at the Oregon College of Education, Monmouth, for the completion of her elementary education training. She will be granted a degree from that school in June as well as her degree from George Fox.

Miss Lyn Edmundson is attending the Museum Art School in Portland under the affiliation with George Fox. She, too, will be granted a degree in Art from both schools upon the completion of her work.

These two students are the first to take advantage of the new agreements with the two schools and will be the first to receive the joint degrees. Both affiliations were negotiated with the respective schools last year.

YFC Events Listed For Coming Weeks

Portland Youth for Christ will be meeting in Benson high school auditorium on October 29 at 7:30 with Garland Powell as guest speaker. Special talent will be furnished by the various Bible clubs in the area.

The famous Eureka Jubilee singers will appear at the rally on November 12. This group of negro singers has travelled widely and has appeared in this area many times previously.

Dr. Frank Phillips, director of Portland YFC, is leaving October 23 for a tour of the Orient in the interests of Youth for Christ International and World Vision.

Opus II members are planning to attend many of the Portland Symphonic orchestra's concerts scheduled for Monday evenings throughout the winter.

This year's orchestra under the direction of Theodore Bloomfield has slated some very interesting and outstanding concerts and artists.

First on the schedule is the opening concert featuring Mozart, Debussy, R. Strauss, and Brahms compositions on Monday evening, October 31.

November 14 is the date set aside for Licia Albanese, soprano soloist, who will appear in the Portland Symphony in selections from Liszt, Verdi, Tchaikowsky, Mozart and Beethoven.

Following concerts will include two more orchestra programs and guest appearances by Mischa Elman, Leon Fleisher, Rudolf Serkin, Isaac Stern, William Primrose and the Portland Symphonic choir under the direction of C. Robert Zimmerman.

According to Miss Caryl Short, Opus II adviser, ticket prices of $3.50, $2.75, $2.00 and $1.25 will be cut in half if the tickets are ordered through the college.

Anyone planning to attend any concert should pay the club treasurer, Sheryl Gurn, well in advance of the concert date.

PRESIDENT SPEAKS, VISITS IN EAST

President Milo C. Ross is slated to speak at the sessions of the five-year meetings in Richmond, Indiana, when they convene for their regular sessions on Saturday, October 22.

While he and Mrs. Ross are visiting the East they will visit other Friends college campuses. Included in the tour are Wilmington college and Earlham college. The reason for these visits is to become better acquainted with other Friends schools and to observe and confer on their respective building programs.

Contest Features Topics of Peace

Students are again invited by the Peace Department of the Oregon Yearly meeting to enter an essay contest for high school and college students. "Peace As I See It" is the subject for this year's essays which should be around 2,000 words long.

Prizes for the college-age winners are $30.00, first; $15.00, second; and $7.50, third. George Fox college prize-winners last year were Florene Price, Genevieve Mills and Quentin Nordyke.

Basis for judging this year's essays, which should be submitted before January 1, 1956, will be as follows: 60 per cent, idea and subject matter; 15 per cent, neatness; 25 per cent, spelling grammar and style. All entries must be typewritten and complete details can be found in the handbook which may be secured from your pastor, a peace chairman of the monthly meeting or direct from the peace committee.

Quakers Gridders Look For Even Season

Whether they will be able to reach their goal or not is a big question, but you have to give these Quaker lads credit. They're game. They've vowed to win the final three games on the slate and give George Fox its first even-up season in many years.

One would think that, after losing a heartbreaker in the opener and then taking it on the chin twice more, their spirit would be at a very low ebb. Add the many injuries to this and the situation looks impossible.

A win against Willamette would give the Quakers their first football triumph since the next to the last game of the '53 season. That's ten games without being able to ring the victory bell.

Injuries to two or three key players would ruin the Quaker's already slim chances. Now on the disabled list are Don Lamm, Ralph Cammack, Leon Jeffry, and Milt Richey. On the slightly injured list we find Mel Lamm, Leroy Jeffry, Bill Hoppepr, Basil Carr, John Lyda, Earl and Lyio Tycksen.

Don Lamm, the Quaker's number one wingman, Leon Jeffry, a starting guard, and Ralph Cammack, the top tackle and steller defensive worker will leave gaping holes in the Quaker forward wall. Coach Beebe has John Lyda, Ed Stark, Gordon Martin and Paul Morse to pick from at the end slots. Several men are apt to find themselves filling in for Jeffry and Cammack.

The "slightly injured" will, more than likely, all be in uniform and most of them will be ready to go all the way.

A series of tight "T" plays has added punch to the Quaker attack and may prove to be the weapon the Quaker lads have been looking for.

Whether they win or not, this Quaker team will not be guilty of "getting their daubers down."

Pioneers Roll On; Maul Quaker Lads

Reserves of Lewis and Clark college ran rough shod over an outweighed, but game, bunch of George Fox ball players here on Saturday, October 15. The Pioneers rolled up 71 points while the Quakers collected 7.

Outweighed 38 pounds to the man in the line, the Quakers never let their spirit get down during the one-sided affair, but could do little against the big hard-charging line the Pioneers threw at them.

The big line opened gaping holes in the Quaker defensive wall and fast, hard-charging backs came booming through to eat up large chunks of turf.

In the final quarter the Quaker pass defense fell apart and the Pioneers scored almost at will.

The lone Quaker tally came on the well-executed pass play from Chuck Newkirk to Ed Stark who was standing all alone in the end zone. Bill Hopper split the up-rights for the seventh point.

Quakers Sink in Mud; Watch Wolf Cubs Float

Friday afternoon, October 7, found the George Fox Quakers and the OCE Wolf Cubs sloshing through the mud of the Quaker turf and it turned out that the

Quakers Slate WU; Bearkittens Foes

George Fox college will throw its battered and bruised gridders into the teeth of the Willamette Bearkittens this afternoon at 2:30 on the Quaker campground.

Coach Beebe will send his lads into the fray without Don Lamm, the Quaker ace pass snagger and co-captain. Don is still hobbling around on a knee injury received in the Linfield fracas.

Mel Lamm seems to have shaken a knee injury and will be ready to go, but Dick Logan and LeRoy Jeffery, two hard-running halves, will see limited action. Both are suffering from shoulder injuries.

Leon Jeffery, a mainstay at guard, will not suit up due to an injured knee.

The Quakers have dropped three straight this fall and are fired up to knock over the invading troupe from Willamette. The boys want this win very badly and are out to get it.

WAA Slates Socials

The Women's Athletic association is starting its activities this year with a hay ride tonight. Fun is anticipated, and girls—if you haven't asked a fellow yet, you still have time.

Also, the WAA has made plans and dates for its annual retreat. All the WAA members who have paid their dues are entitled to take the trip to Manzanita Beach with the group for this time of fun and fellowship. A program is outlined for the enjoyment and relaxation of the girls, with a special "something" called "Bricks and Bouquets" for Saturday evening.

Plans are also underway for a "Snow Party", a taffy-pull, and other parties for the club.

Wolf Cubs were the better sloshers as they plastered the Quakers 33-6.

The wet weather pretty well put the damper on the Quaker aerial game and their small backs found the footing a little uncertain. But the big fellows from Monmouth didn't seem to mind the weather and ground out three touchdowns in the first half and two in the second half.

In the waning moments of the game when Fred Newkirk took a hand-off and scampered 65 yards to pay dirt, the Quakers received their score. Bill Hopper's conversion try was wide thus the scoring for the George Fox team in the game was ended.

Gals Trek South; Attend Play Day

Ten George Fox College girls spent the day last Saturday in Corvallis, participating in a volleyball tournament. Girls from OSC, Clark College, Lewis and Clark, Linfield, Portland State, and others also attended.

The girls, having furthered a friendly relationship between the various colleges, reported fun, and fatigue upon the arrival home. The girls from the various colleges were divided up so ones from each school were participating on one team, with eight teams in all.

The girls from GF who went were Annie Longstroth, Pat Schroeder, Virginia Cox, Naomi Kliever, Joan Peck, Jo Wolhford, Theda Watts, Eleanor Howell, Meredith Beals, and Alfreda Pinther.

★ ★ ROSS'S RAMBLINGS ★ ★

An interesting fact came of a conversation with Coach Beebe the other day. Did you realize that out of the twenty-some football players performing for GFC this year, there are 5 brother combinations, or ten brothers in all? In case you don't believe it, there are two Tycksens, Houstons, Jeffery's, Lamms, and Newkirks. Add to this group Bob Field and Earl Perisho, who had older brothers who won letters here, and you find 50 per cent of our players are football brothers. Besides the aforementioned, Chuck and Don Tuning are another brother combo that will appear during the basketball season.

Basketball is beginning to come into the picture and one wonders what the game will be like this year with the new twelve-foot foul lanes. Not only will the playing floor look different with its new coat of paint (which we will have to do one of these days), but the style of play will be changed. When the pivot man is moved to the side, it means that many more of the driving players will go down the middle instead of around as before. By the way, I wonder if they will still call the foul lane the "keyhole." Maybe a new term will be coined. Ever think of watching a player shoot from the head of the "U."

This new rule makes George Fox look like it is closing the the barn door after the horse is stolen. The main reason for the rule was to cut down the advantage of the tall player, something GFC has never had, before. But we do now and the new rule just makes it harder for him. In case you haven't been introduced to "Stub", his name is Dave Hanson (he stands just under 6' 8" and he expects to reach 6' 10", he comes from Hillsboro, Oregon, he is vice-president of the freshman class, and everyone likes him. Everything isn't rosy, though, even if he is here. Not only do we have to expend (if you use that word this way) in painting the "keyhole," but also there is the problem of getting him a new basketball suit. I suppose he could wear one of the old ones, but when he had the warm-up pants on he would be the only player in the state wearing Bermuda shorts.

With football upset following football upset, the task of rating teams gets harder each week. Since there is no clear-cut super-champion as in years before, it makes one wonder whether all football is getting better, poorer teams coming up to the level of the bowl contenders, or if the game is deteriorating, champs dropping down in calibre. One thing is sure, no one agrees on how the teams should be rated this year, so again we have taken a consensus poll to see how the general opinion is. Interesting to note that in pre-season polls, Post and Collier's rated seven teams which didn't make this week's consensus, of there teams, Mississippi, Ohio State, Army and Rice were picked for the top ten by one magazine or the other.

The consensus poll for the week of play ending October 15:

1. Michigan	80	11. Texas A&M	32
2. Maryland	76	12. Georgia Tech	28
3. Oklahoma	71	13. Southern California	24
Navy	63	14. Texas Christian	19
4. Tie—		15. Baylor	15
UCLA	63	16. Wisconsin	13
6. Michigan State	60	17. Colorado	11
7. Duke	58	18. Washington	7
8. Notre Dame	45	19. Miami, Fla.	6
9. Auburn	38	20. Purdue	5
10. West Virginia	35

Other teams rated were: Boston College, Yale, Holy Cross, Florida, Pittsburgh, Southern Methodist, and Iowa.
